THE UNIVERSAL TARGET. Speak kindly to the millionaire; Perhaps he does his best. Don't try to drive him to despair With rude, unfeeling jest. Don't laugh at portraits which display His face with comic leer. And when he gives his wealth away Don't take it with a sneer.

Speak kindly to the millionaire, He has a right to live, And feel the sun and breathe the air And keep his coin or give. You may be rich yourself, you see Before your life is through; Speak kindly, and remember he Is human, just like you.

AFTER the New York Courts are through airing the blackmailing transactions of the Walking Delegates, some people may change their minds as to The Ledger's opposition to these carbuncles on the labor Unions.

A correspondent of The Louisville Herald "humps up his back up," charging that paper with an attempt to place such men as ex-Governor Bradley and ex-Governor Brown on a level with as high-minded, high-toned gentleman as Governor Beckham, a man that has stood by and for the common people; and The Herald promptly disclaims any such intention, citing a single instance in which there is a distance between their levels of $71,199.93, established by Governor Brown himself. He was handling the money of the taxpayers and collected $606,641.03 of war claims from the Na-tional Government at a total cost of 2 cents in postage. This was in 1892, when Governor Brown was a plain Democratic Governor, without guile and without itch to divert the money of the people from their possession. In those old-fashioned days that was considered right and Democratic. But in 1903 that high-minded and high-toned gentleman, Governor Beckbarn bandling the same sort of claim, collected ed and high-toned gentleman, Governor Beckham, handling the same sort of claim, collected $1,323,999.35, and it was calhouned to the extent of $71,199.95. There is not only high-mindedness and high-tonedness for you, but also high-pricedness. Mr. Beckham is away up high above Governor Brown's level—that is, if Mr. Beckham can be said to be on the level.

The account can be presented in this form: The account can be presented in this form:

Cost to the state of collection of $606,641.03 by Gov. Brown...$00,000 02 ost to state of collection of $1,-323,999.35 by Gov. Beckham. 71,199 95

Difference in cost. ..... $ 71,199 93 It is hardly probable that Governor Brown eould reach Governor Beckham's level in a life-time, even if he tried. It is still more improbable that he would try. Calhouning was not considered Democratic in his day.

Political Pickings

THE ISSUE AS BECKHAM HAS MADE IT.

Georgetown Sentinel.

Governor Beckham has declared from the stump time and again that if re-elected Governor he will not pardon Curt Jett and Tom White, and in every speech he makes, asks Colonel Belknap if he will pardon Caleb Powers and Jim Howard if he is elected.

That can be construed but one way. If Mr. Beckham is elected Powers must hang. He has made that the issue himself and the voters are now compelled to decide by their ballot whether or not Caleb Powers shall hang without being given a fair trial or whether he shall be given a fair and impartial trial as guaranteed by the constitution. Will you vote to hang Powers or will you vote to give him such a fair trial as is guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States and of this Commonwealth?

You cannot dodge the issue. You will decide the question by your vote. If it is cast for Mr. Beckham, after he has made the declaration, you will be as guilty of judicial assassination as if you had been in the Jury box and pronounced the sentence of death upon him yourself.

In the name of justice, think seriously of this matter before you vote.

TO VOTE ON AMENDMENT NEXT FALL.

Wm. A. Robinson, Before State Com mercial Convention, Makes Speech on the Present System of Taxation-Says It Retards State Development.

The State Commercial Convention in Louisville last month might have truly been called the State Development Convention, for all of the sessions pointed an unerring finger at Kentucky's untold wealth that is yet undeveloped. Judge S. S. Savage of Ashland, who is a director of the Kentucky Exhibit Association, which organization is looking especially after a great display of Kentucky's resources at the World's Fair next year, was the presiding officer of the meeting and has been made chairman of the State Committee, which will make every endeavor to carry at the polls next November the proposed amendment to Section 181 of the State Constitution, which has to do with local taxation. One of the speeches made during the convention on this subject was by Mr. Wm. A. Robinson of Louisville. Mr. Robinson said in part:

In the first place, I would remark, that taxation is a subject in which every good citizen is interested more or less, either di-rectly or indirectly. The Constitution of 1891, the present Constitution under which we are governed, was the first of the four Constitutions of the State of Kentucky to fix an inflexible system in the organic lav as to local taxation, and it was a com-plete revolution in regard to taxation on the industrial interests of our Kentucky cities. It restores to all cities, not to cities of the first-class only, as is often stated in our papers, but to all cities, every city in the State of Kentucky, the right under the general act of the Legislature, to fix its own assessment, its own system of taxation on all other property except real estate. again for five years. The farmers are as much interested in this matter as any of our people. It is a plain proposition that the farmer is benefited as you make larger home markets, because you give him the consumer at home for his product, without the loss of freight. The agriculture interests of the State are going to be subserved as you increase the population. They cannot compete, that is, for the export business, with the cheap lands of the West in raising wheat. They must raise market products, and other products and grain for consumption right here at home among our own people. Factories must be located in cities, because it is there that you find labor, it is there you find banking capital, it is there you find transportation. Therefore the people of Kentucky must let the cities of the State-all the cities, not only cities of the first class-decide this important question of how you are going to tax these industries. Citizens in Neighborhood of Cherry Alley Register a Kick.

It is evident those in power were not familiar with the geography of that part of the city where Cherry alley crosses Fourth street. There is a break in the sidewalk between Mr. Parker and Mr. Murphy, caused by this alley that has a fall at the farthest point of about four feet, and an unfortunate who happened to fall over this dangerous place would more than likely break his neck, certainly some bones.

Heretofore a gaslamp has stood as a beacon light to warn pedestrians of danger, and it has fulfilled its mission well, for not a single mishap has occurred during the time of its life and usefulness.

In the wisdom of some of the city's sages this light has been removed and the place left in total darkness.

It is a dangerous pitfall to all who wend their way along that street after nightfall.

The light should be restored. The cost is insignificant in comparison to a lawsuit for damages for a life or a mangled body.

Will the Light Committee of the City Council please look into the matter and act wisely accordingly by restoring the gaslamp?

As You Like It

That is about the way The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York issues policies in these days of varied requirements in business and family life.

The postscript to a letter written by Mr. Ebe Walter, of Clarkesville, Del., enforces this thought:

"The options of the dividend addition of $357, making my olicy $1,387, or a total cash value of $687 19 are fully appre-iated, but the settlement which I have chosen seems to be the est suited to my present circumstances."

What Mr. Walter did take was a dividend check for $196.98 on the paid-up policy of a $1,000, which cost him all told $448.02. He says:

The feature which I particularly like about my policy is that the longer I live the more I get and that during the bal-ance of my life there is nothing more for me to pay. (From Wilmington (Del.) News, Nov. 27, 1902.)

In writing for terms for a policy of this kind, state what you would like to receive in cash at the end of limited payment period, amount you would like your beneficiary to receive in event of your death, and give your age.
